Singing for the Brain Support Volunteer

Why we need you

Singing for the Brain is our trailblazing music as therapy group session, which brings people affected by dementia together to sing a variety of songs they know and love, in a fun and friendly environment. Whether it's listening, singing or moving to the rhythm, each session creates a warm and welcoming atmosphere and is a source of joy and support, with fun, laughs and connection between people.

As a Singing for the Brain Support Volunteer, you will use your interpersonal skills to enable people affected by dementia to engage in musical activity and socialise with others, either in person or online under the guidance of the session facilitator, enabling people with dementia to find their voice through music.

What you will be doing

- Provide a warm welcome to people affected by dementia to make them feel comfortable and included.
- Help set up the room and tidy away at the end of the session. Help prepare and distribute refreshments.
- Encouraging and supporting people affected by dementia to engage with singing activities and physical movement.
- Supporting the session facilitator by distributing materials such as songbooks.
